

MurphyCentre

"I feel like a completely different person than the one who walked into the doors of the Murphy Centre four years ago. I'm delighted that the five-year plan I made at the Murphy Centre worked out - I have been admitted to Osgoode Hall Law School in Toronto.

I get incredibly overwhelmed when I think about the privilege I have been offered. If it wasn't for my ABE, I'd be working at a bar for the rest of my life. Now, I'll be called to THE BAR in three or four years."

Stacey Seward is in her last year of Journalism at King's College and has been admitted to one of the best law schools in the country.
